

Acceptable Use Policy

- Personnel are often required to read and acknowledge acceptable use policies.
- An acceptable use policy will define the purpose of IT systems, how users can access them, and the responsibilities of users when accessing the systems.
- Defines what is acceptable and not acceptable, as well as penalties for performing non-acceptable activities.

